Please be aware that the completeness and accuracy of the information you provide to us remains your responsibility. In engaging us to prepare your tax return, you acknowledge that you must provide us with all relevant information and documentation to complete the engagement. Under the Self-Assessment Regime (the laws which govern the completion of income tax returns), the onus is on you to have adequate documentation to support your income and deduction claims. This documentation in most cases must be retained for between 5 and 7 years, although it is 10 years for Self-Managed Superannuation Fund. The ATO and other government bodies have the right to impose penalties if you are unable to substantiate the amounts or if they determine there is missing, false or misleading information in the lodged tax return.
